

LETTERS IN NAN'S CASE

Alleged Slayer of Caesar
Young Goes to Trial
Tomorrow.

NEW YORK, April 17.—The trial of Nan Patterson for the murder of Caesar Young, which was postponed from last Monday, was again postponed today when the case was called in the Court of General Sessions. The delay this time, however, will probably be for only twenty-four hours since the only thing awaited is the final ruling by Justice Gaynor on a motion asking that District Attorney Jerome may be ordered to surrender the letters and papers confiscated when J. Morgan Smith and his wife were arrested at Cincinnati.

THIRD TRIAL.

NEW YORK, April 17.—With the last known objection to the beginning of the trial removed, it was reported that Nan Patterson, the former show girl, would appear in court for the third time today to answer to the charge of killing Caesar Young, a wealthy bookmaker and turfman. The first trial was interrupted by the illness of a juror, when it was about half finished, and in the second trial the jury was unable to agree. A few days before the date set for the third trial, J. Morgan Smith and his wife, Nan Patterson's sister, who had been sought by the prosecution for months as witnesses against the young woman, were located in Cincinnati.

The Grand Jury indicted them on a charge of conspiracy in connection with the Patterson case, and they were arrested and held for extradition. They refused to come to New York voluntarily which resulted in a postponement in the opening of the trial today. In the meanwhile the Smiths gave up the fight against extradition and they are now in the Tombs.

Since their return from Cincinnati, however, it is said they may not be called as witnesses after all.

It is said that the present trial will develop some features that were altogether lacking when the case was in the courts before. Rumors of new witnesses and promised sensations by both the prosecution and defense were plentiful today.

POPE INSTRUCTS

ABOUT TEACHING.

ROME, April 17.—The Pope today addressed an encyclical to all the members of the Roman Catholic Episcopacy throughout the world on the manner of teaching the Christian doctrine.

CHECK STREAM OF DEATH

Physicians Assemble to Discuss a Cure for Tuberculosis.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 17.—The American Anti-Tuberculosis Congress assembled here today with an attendance of about 400 persons from nearly every part of the United States east of the Rocky Mountains and several prominent representatives from European centers. Addresses of welcome were made by Governor Terrell, Clark Howell, editor of the Constitution, and others.

Dr. George Brown of Atlanta, president of the American Anti-Tuberculosis League, in an address opening the proceedings, said:

"The mission that brings us here will carry with it the good wishes of the world and the prayers of many, for all of the afflicted in God's great footstool, who are more to be pitied and prayed for than those we would benefit."

"We are here today to plead for better things for those sufferers and better treatment, better laws, and better attentions. The Old World has awakened to the fact that there is a useless sacrifice of life in permitting over one million deaths a year from this scourge of earth. In our country over 150,000 die annually from this dreaded consumption."

"We are appalled at the report of an accident in which a steamer is burned and a thousand lives are lost, our sympathies go out to the fate of miners lost by the score in the gloomy depths of mines, and we read of railroad wrecks with a shudder of horror, but we see these doomed victims drop off one by one and we do not realize the number of them that go to the great beyond from this destroyer."

"All honor then to those who are here today to try to check this stream of death, which, when the cold statistics are received, chills"

RUSSIAN FLEET LOCATED BY THE JAPANESE SCOUTS.

CAUGHT: JAPANESE SCOUTS STALKING SPIES ON THE HUN-HO.

Toga's Position Is Not Divulged But He is Evidently Waiting to Attack the Russians.

TOKIO, April 17.—It is calculated here that the Russian squadron arrived at Kamranh bay at noon April 12 and therefore has been occupying the port forty-eight hours when seen at noon April 14.

The confirmation received regarding vessels of the Russian squadron being seen at Kamranh bay April 15 reached Tokio today and was given the public through a brief communication through the navy department.

The news was a surprise, because it was generally doubted that France would permit the use of her ports to a belligerent squadron engaged in offensive operations. The Japanese government is silent on the subject of its intentions, but it is expected that it will make immediate representations to France. The response of France is eagerly awaited, particularly as to whether France admits the squadron is within territorial waters.

France denied that the Russian squadron was within territorial waters when off Madagascar. If she denies it in this instance it will give Japan an opportunity to attack the Russian vessels without violating French neutrality. Many people continue to believe the Russian squadron will speedily leave Kamranh bay and continue its voyage northward.

RUSSIA HEARS NEWS OF FLEET

ST. PETERSBURG, April 17, 11:55 a. m.—The news that vessels of the Russian squadron have put into Kamranh bay, north of Cape Padaran, off the east coast of Cochin China, bears out statements contained in these dispatches a week ago to the effect that Admiral Rojestvensky probably would seek shelter off that part of Cochin China coast and there make his final preparations before embarking on the final stage of his journey. No definite information is obtainable as to the length of the squadron's stay at Kamranh bay or whether the warships have already sailed, the Admiralty, even if it knows, being naturally silent on this point.

"You may be sure," said an officer, "that every precaution will be taken against a torpedo attack. Rojestvensky can be relied upon to protect his ships."

Among naval men the idea that Admiral Rojestvensky has divided his squadron is not entertained. No confirmation has been received here of the reported naval engagement north of the Natuna Islands which, according to the British steamer Telemachus, which has just arrived at Hongkong, took place 150 miles north of the Natuna Islands in the afternoon of April 12.

A high admiral expressed to the Associated Press today the firm conviction that Admiral Togo would not give battle near the Pescadore Islands, Formosa

Claims Fortune, Declared Insane, Dies in Asylum,

Left No Heirs,
But a Mint
of Money.

NORFOLK, Va., April 17.—Thomas Yandaw, a conspicuous figure in Norfolk for over fifty years, claimed up to the time of his death that he was entitled to a large fortune in California.

Five years ago he was adjudged a lunatic and was sent to the Eastern Virginia Asylum at Williamsburg.

Two years ago he died and was buried in a pauper's grave at the asylum.

A letter has just been received here by a local attorney saying that Yandaw was entitled to a large portion of an estate in California, worth upward of $1,500,000. Yandaw's wife is dead and he left no heirs.

Straits. He said:

"It would be a great tactical error to concentrate his squadron 800 miles from Japan and run the risk of having Rojestvensky slip by when, by remaining in home waters Rojestvensky must come to him in order to reach his only base, Vladivostok."

"All the Tokio dispatches about the proclamation of martial law in the Pescadore Islands and the presence of a Japanese squadron in Formosan waters are bluffs. We do not know Rojestvensky's plans. He has worked them out himself, and, knowing the Admiral as I do, his own flag captain was probably in the dark when he entered the China sea. We have complete confidence in Rojestvensky's resourcefulness. He labors under disadvantages so far as the speed of his vessels is concerned, but the reports of the condition of his ships and crews and the latter's skill in gunnery as shown by their target practice, are better than was considered possible, and we firmly believe he has more than a fighting chance of whipping Togo in an open fight."

CZAR'S FLEET IS MOVING NORTH

LONDON, April 17.—A special dispatch from Hongkong says that a portion of the Russian squadron was seen Sunday at Turan bay, about 350 miles north of Kamranh bay.

Turan bay is between latitude 16 and latitude 17 north. According to advices from Haifong to a Paris newspaper forty Russian vessels were recently sighted in that latitude, steaming north.

FRENCH CRUISER.
SAIGON, April 17.—Admiral de Jonquieres has rejoined the French cruiser Des Cartes in Kamranh bay, Cochin China, about 200 miles northeast of Saigon.

MRS. CLARK PASSES AWAY.
Mrs. Lizzie B. Clark, a widow, aged 55 years, died today in a local sanitarium. She was a native of California and was a daughter of the late Samuel Dunsen. The funeral will be held next Wednesday.

BUNKERS GOES TO TRIAL

Accused Ex-Senator Faces a Jury at Sacramento.

SACRAMENTO, April 17.—Harry Bunkers, the deposed State Senator, who was arrested for bribery, appeared for trial in the Superior Court this morning before Judge Hart, and the work of securing a jury was begun. The prosecution is being conducted by District Attorney A. M. Seymour, assisted by Assistant District Attorney J. R. Hughes and Charles T. Jones.

The defendant was represented in court this morning by James Copeland, H. V. Morehouse, H. L. Patridge and F. C. Jacobs.

Bunkers appeared to be in good spirits and did not seem to be worrying over the serious charge against him.

When court opened this morning the attorney representing Wright and Emmons, deposed Senators, secured an extension of thirty days time in which to prepare bills of exceptions.

Attorney Morehouse withdrew the plea formerly made by Bunkers that he had once been convicted of the charge against him by the special investigating committee of the Senate and then the task of selecting the jury was commenced.

The prosecution, in asking questions, wanted to know from the talesmen whether they had made up their minds as to the guilt or innocence of the defendant.

M. Miller, who had been called into the jury box, was asked by Attorney Morehouse, of counsel for the defense, if he remembered that District Attorney Seymour had gone before the Special Senate Committee and demanded that the accused men be not allowed to testify and whether he had made up his mind as to the guilt or innocence of the accused. Mr. Miller believed he could give the defendant a fair trial. He was asked if he had read the newspaper reports of the scandal.

He said he was prepared to cast aside all impressions which might have been made upon him by reading the newspapers. He was also asked if he knew Clarence Grange, of the Phoenix Building and Loan Association, District Attorney Seymour and Joseph Jordan. He answered that Seymour was the only one he knew.

"Mr. Miller," asked Jones for the prosecution, "if this case were presented to you right now what would your verdict be?"

"I would say that the defendant is guilty," was the unflinching reply.

Miller was promptly excused.

Henry Rubenstein, barber, was the next talesman examined. In reply to a question as to whether he had read the newspaper accounts of the scandal in the Senate he said he had only read the headlines, and that he did not devote much of his time to newspaper reading. He believed in enforcing the law and would vote to enforce the law against bribery. Rubenstein said he had never heard that Bunkers had been expelled from the Senate. The entire week will be consumed in securing a jury.

DR. GUTBREAD DIES.
LEIPZIG, April 17.—Dr. Gutbroad, president of the high court of the empire, died today.

SHE SOLD A CHILD FOR $10

Woman Who Bought Sick Infant Sorry for Her Bargain.

A waif sold for $10 has been taken by the Associated Charities and guardianship proceedings have been brought by Miss Helen Swett to gain the custody of the child. She, however, expresses determination not to divulge name of the woman from whom she has taken the child and states that a party to such a sale is of no interest to either the courts or the public and that she intends to keep the name to herself.

The attention of the society was called to the case on account of the fact that the woman was not properly caring for the infant, now five months old, and named by Miss Swett as Edna Robinson, for the purpose of the guardianship proceedings. An investigation resulted in disclosing the fact that the woman had nothing but a bill of sale right to the child and that she had purchased it from Mrs. A. Funke of 1416 Eighth street, Alameda.

The story of the foster mother, as confessed by her, is to the effect that she went to the hospital conducted by Mrs. Funke and upon the payment of $10 was given the child. She claims that she is too poor to give the child all the medical attention it needs, and that it was a bad purchase from a monetary point of view. Miss Swett has possession of the child at the present time and has had Attorney George E. Jackson file guardianship proceedings in the case, which comes up before Judge Ogden tomorrow morning.

Mrs. Funke's name has been mixed up in such affairs as this before and is the proprietor of a lying-in hospital for "unfortunate" women, whose children she often takes and sells them for a small sum, which is said to be the amount sufficient to cover the cost of attendance upon the mother. The parents of the present child are unknown and in the guardianship proceedings it is termed an abandoned child.

THOMAS M'CAFFRAY IS PROMOTED

LOS ANGELES, April 17.—Announcement was made today at the offices of the Southern Pacific of the appointment of Thomas McCaffray, trainmaster in this city, to the position of assistant superintendent. E. A. Brown has been promoted from chief dispatcher to succeed McCaffray.

OAKLAND COUPLE ARRESTED

MR. AND MRS. FRANK DREW
CHARGED WITH INSANITY AT SAN JOSE.

SAN JOSE, Cal., April 17.—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Drew, each aged about 50, who came from Oakland recently, were arrested today on charges of insanity. Both declare that Mrs. Drew is King of Kings of all lands.

Mr. Drewman, of the Oakland Tribune, was arrested today on charges of insanity.

KILLS HIS BROTHER THEN SHOOTS HIMSELF WITH THE SAME RIFLE.

STOCKTON, April 17.—William Mohr, son of Henry Mohr, a farmer located four miles from Bethany, in the southern part of this county, killed his brother George with a rifle shortly after 6 o'clock this morning, then locked himself in his room, and with the same rifle killed himself.

No further particulars of the tragedy have been received here this morning. It is supposed, however, that they quarrelled over some horses.

William was about 28 years of age and George 26. The family is highly respected.

The sheriff, coroner, district attorney and stenographer left for the scene this morning in a automobile.

STOCKTON, Cal., April 17.—Later particulars are to the effect that William, a weak-minded youth, came in and shot his brother at the breakfast table without provocation. He immediately went to his room and committed suicide. George lived only long enough to tell his father and mother goodbye. The coroner is holding inquests.

LAW MAKING TEN HOURS

A DAY'S WORK IN BAKERY IS UNCONSTITUTIONAL.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—In an opinion by Justice Peckham the Supreme Court of the United States held to be unconstitutional the New York State law making ten hours a day's work and sixty hours a week's work in bakeries in that State.

Justices Harlan, White, Day and Holmes dissented, and Justice Harlan declared that no more important decision had been rendered in the last century.

HENEY BEARS NO MALICE AGAINST ACCUSED.

Prosecutor Has No Personal Feeling Against Men Who Have Been Indicted.

PORTLAND, Ore., April 17.—In an answer to Senator Mitchell's charges that the Federal Grand Jury which brought indictments against him in connection with land frauds in this State was an illegal body and that United States District Attorney Heney was prejudiced, Heney today introduced affidavits relating the fact of his appointment as District Attorney, and declared that he bears no malice towards any of the defendants from any cause whatever. The affidavits also certify that George Gustin, the juror whose citizenship is questioned by the defense, is a naturalized citizen of the United States. Attorney Bennett, for the defense raised technical objections to the introduction of the affidavits upon the ground that the government had not adopted the proper course of procedure. Mr. Heney argued that a statute of the United States provided that affidavits could be introduced to show the citizenship of a naturalized foreigner. He stated that the statute provided that pleas in abatement shall be tried by a judge without a jury and that the Federal laws provide for the introduction of evidence in the form of affidavits.

BABY'S NARROW ESCAPE

Capitalist's Child Thrown From Runaway; Is Unhurt.

BERKELEY, April 17.—A runaway that barely escaped terminating disastrously for J. A. Marshall, a Berkeley capitalist and contractor, and his wife and baby occurred this morning at the Berkeley railway station. A crowd of people watched the incident. Marshall was driving a spirited horse past the station when the Berkeley local thundered down from North Berkeley. The horse became frightened, turned the buggy around on two wheels and dashed on to the sidewalk in front of Putzker's bicycle store on the corner of Center street. For two seconds the buggy was balanced on two wheels, threatening to turn completely over. Mr. and Mrs. Marshall were able to keep their seats, but the baby was thrown from the buggy. With incredible dexterity the falling child was caught before it touched the ground by Julius Salsberger, a local merchant, who had come to the assistance of the Marshalls. By this time the frightened horse had plunged into the doorway of Putzker's store, where it was caught by Marshall Kerns. Mr. and Mrs. Marshall escaped unhurt, a shift of the buggy was snapped in two, but otherwise no damage was done.

ARREST WOMAN. Josephine Brischoux, proprietor of the Huff House, was arrested last night on a charge of selling liquor without a license. She deposited $100 bail for her appearance. The case was set down for trial by Police Judge Samuels for April 18.

ATTORNEY GRILLED BY JUDGE

"You Are the Most Impudent Man Ever Before This Bar."

Attorney J. W. Preston of Ukiah this morning was told by Judge Ogden that he was the most impudent attorney that had ever appeared before him, and for a time it looked as though there would be "something doing," but the matter finally shrank off and Preston escaped with a number of attorneys expected would result in an order for his imprisonment for contempt. The incident arose over the probating of the estate of Thomas Harris, who died a short time ago at the County Infirmary, supposedly without means. Preston, however, found that 160 acres of valuable timber land in Mendocino county was in Harris' name and put in a bid of $800 to the Public Administrator for the claim. One William J. Miles of San Francisco made a bid last week of $800 and was then told by Harris to be careful of what he did, as there was an unrecorded deed out for the property. In order to have an explanation of this, Judge Ogden cited Preston to appear before him and tell what he knew about the land and its title. Preston then told a long story of how George Graves, Theodore Barnhardt, John M. Miller and Vincent L. Gibson went out and took up the land and later there was trouble over it and the United States authorities were looking for the men. Preston stated that he had located one in Illinois and another in Oklahoma Territory. After his recital of these facts Judge Ogden wanted to know if he had notified the authorities of what he had done. Preston said that he had not, as he did not think it his business to do so. The matter of the bid was then brought up and Preston wanted to increase his bid to more than that of Miles' $800 bid. The Court would not listen to this unless others had the same chance, and Preston made the remark that "If there was going to be any cheating done, it would be done by the Court." Judge Ogden, looking up, said: "Young man, are you casting any reflection on the honor of this Court?" "No, your Honor, I have investigated your record and find that you are all right," was the rejoinder. "You are the most impudent man that has ever practiced before this bar," exclaimed Judge Ogden, and he then said, "I will hear no more of this matter to-day and will continue it for two weeks. In the meantime the Public Administrator will look into this matter and try and get more bids. If hardly looks reasonable to me that 160 acres of timber land is worth only $5 an acre."

CLUBS ARE USED ON CROWD

STRIKE IN CHICAGO DIFFICULT TO HANDLE—MORE MAY GO OUT.

CHICAGO, April 17.—Exasperating difficulties were experienced at every turn today by the wagons of Montgomery Ward & Company, whose teamsters and garment workers are on strike. At the Michigan Central freight house in South Ward street, the police escorting the Ward caravans met with stubborn opposition on the part of the teamsters in sympathy with the strikers.

The anti-Ward teamsters loaded or unloaded their wagons with provoking slowness, and told the police, "We are not pieces of machinery." Many of the teamsters in the street leading to the freight houses insisted that they had been waiting for two hours. Members of the freight handlers' unions gave indications that unless the police ceased to give the Ward wagons the right to unload before teamsters who had been waiting ahead, a strike among the freight handlers would be ordered.

The crowd at the West Side warehouse of Ward & Company was so unyielding that when a string of the firm's wagons reached the place the police were forced to use clubs to make a passageway.

TEACHERS WILL MEET

TO DISCUSS PROBLEMS RELATIVE TO SCHOOL LIFE OF CHILDREN.

City Superintendent of Schools McClymonds has issued the following circular: "At the last meeting of the Legislature, an act was passed regulating the employment and hours of labor of children, etc., approved February 20, 1905. This act requires certain duties of the school authorities. There will therefore be a meeting of the school principals in the Council Chamber, City Hall, on Wednesday, April 19, at 4 p. m., on matters pertaining to the enforcement of these laws. I have been requested by Superintendent Waterman of the Berkeley Schools to notify the teachers of the Oakland School Department that a number of a thousand of the Berkeley school children will give a concert in the Great Theater on Saturday afternoon, April 29, at 3 o'clock. Admission 5c for adults. This notice is not to be made in your schools, but simply for the information of the teachers."

AGED MAN HIT BY ENGINE

Joseph Jory Dies From Injuries Received Near Elmhurst.

ELMHURST, April 17.—John Jory, an Englishman, aged eighty-four years, who was hard of hearing, was run down yesterday afternoon by engine No. 1447, and so badly injured that he died a few hours afterwards. The accident occurred at the Alvin crossing of the Southern Pacific tracks at 1 o'clock. The old man was walking along the track slowly and he did not appear to notice the engine which was coming westward. The engine's bell and the whistle failed to make Jory take notice. The engineer attempted to stop the engine, but owing to the short space of time in which to work, he was unable to bring the locomotive to a stop before the pilot had flung the unfortunate man into the air. A physician was called to attend the aged man, but he died about 5:30 last night without regaining consciousness. The coroner has been notified and has taken charge of the remains. An inquest will be held at San Leandro on Wednesday evening.

WORKMEN REFUSE TO STRIKE

GOING OUT OF THE MEN IS NOT ENTIRE SUCCESS.

ROME, April 17.—The strike of railway men, which began today, was not as successful as expected.

Some of the men refused to strike and published a manifesto saying that they could not risk the bread of their families.

With these men and a military escort one train left Rome on each line.

A car on each train was converted into a prison for use if arrests are necessary during the journey.

Notwithstanding the uncertainty of such traveling many Americans left this city for Naples, Florence and Pisa.

The leaders of the movement are trying to bring about a general strike of all workmen, but they find little sympathy.

If it occurs the government has decided to entrust the military authorities with the maintenance of order.

Five men of war have been ordered to Genoa to maintain order.

The strike is in protest of the new bill presented by the Fortis cabinet, because it provides for the dismissal of those who go on strike and does not contain an arbitration clause.

RUSSIANS HAVE GOOD HEALTH

ONLY EIGHT DIE FROM DISEASE OUT OF A TOTAL 18,000 MEN.

SAIGON, April 17.—The Japanese recently captured a large number of soldiers off the coast of Cochinchina. Six men supposed to be Chinese landed some days ago at Cape St. James near here from an Annamese junk and after a brief stay re-embarked.

A number of Russian warships are anchored at Kamran Bay, where they are refueling.

The steamer Eridan, which was purchased by a local French firm, sailed yesterday with a full cargo of provisions for the squadron. The health of the Russians is remarkably good. Only eight deaths from disease have occurred since their departure from Europe out of a total of 18,000 men. A Russian officer suffering from beri, beri is in the hospital here.

The other sick men who were brought here by the Russian hospital ship Ore, include Prince Cantacuzene, but the reports that the Ore has wounded men on board are unfounded, as there has been no fighting up to the time of her arrival.

Prince Cantacuzene, who married Miss Julia Dent Grant in 1895, is the head of the house and is an officer of the Imperial guard. The prince in the hospital at Saigon apparently is a naval officer.

WOODMEN OF WORLD GATHER

There Will Be Lively Contest Over Head of Consul.

LOS ANGELES, April 17.—Delegates and visitors to the annual Convention of the Pacific division of the Woodmen of the World, which convenes in this city tomorrow morning, are arriving in the city in large numbers.

It is estimated that by the opening hour tomorrow 150 delegates and nearly 3,000 visiting Woodmen will have arrived. Five hundred delegates and visitors from Northern California, Oregon, and Washington, came in on the regular and special train last night. An equal number arrived at 9:45 today over the Salt Lake line. They comprise the Utah delegation and visiting members.

Among the last to arrive today were the specialists bearing the delegations from Colorado, Wyoming, Idaho and Montana.

Among the distinguished members of the order who are present and the only one representing the national body is Colonel Irwin, of Milwaukee, of the grand sovereign's staff.

A spirited contest is developing over the election of a successor to Head Consul Foley. Mr. Foley announced today that he is no longer a passive candidate to succeed himself, but would enter into an active contest for the place.

There are two other candidates for the office, Head Clerk Boaz of Denver, and Editor Keith of the Butte Miner. Each is backed by the delegation from his home State and will have a considerable following.

Part of the work of the Convention will be the location of permanent headquarters for the Women of Woodcraft. Several cities are competing for the honor, among them being Los Angeles, San Francisco, Denver, Salt Lake, Butte, and Boise City. Another work of importance will be the consideration of the project of building a home on the Pacific Coast for members of the order who are afflicted with tuberculosis.

JUDGE CRITICISES BOY'S PARENTS

Thomas J. Oakes, a motorman residing at the corner of Forty-third street and Telegraph avenue, was found guilty of battering Delos Mansfield, the eight-year-old son of C. D. Mansfield, a neighbor.

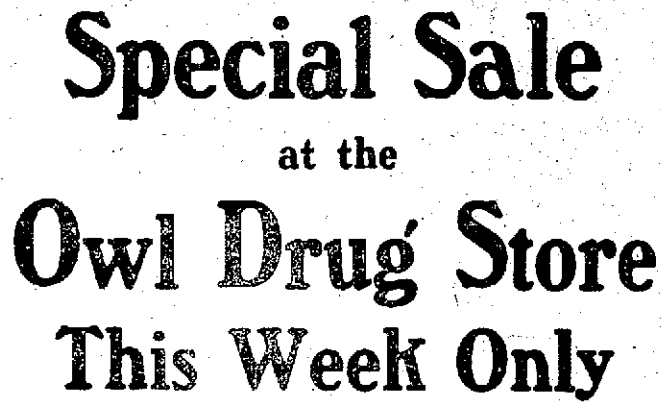

The arrest grew out of the fact that the sons of the two men had a pitched battle after school hours. Oakes separated his own boy from the Mansfield boy, who alleged that undue force and violence was used in accomplishing the separation.

Judge Samuels remarked that parents should have better sense than to bring boys of such a tender age into the police court and discharged the defendant.

COUNTS CASH.

GRAND OPERA IS SUCCESS

HARD WORK IS DONE BY MANAGER CHARLES W. STRINE.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—Artistically and financially, the grand opera season just closed has proved to be the most successful ever known in San Francisco.

Figures of the week's receipts show from a financial standpoint that the grand opera season broke all world's records. The man who has managed this brilliant season is Charles W. Strine, and he is being kept busy receiving congratulations from all sources.

He has had work enough to keep a whole staff of managers busy and he has carried his work to a successful conclusion in the style.

As well as managing operatic companies, Mr. Strine has been director of newspaper enterprises and has a reputation for tremendous business energy and success.

He has become almost as well known in San Francisco as in New York, for he is the man to whom this last town in America is indebted for several of its best and greatest seasons of opera.

His first big season, in April, 1899, was planned and managed by Mr. Strine, and the success of that season led to the altering of the Grand Opera House so as to meet the grand opera requirements. The first big season of grand opera in this city was that of March, 1899, and Mr. Strine was the manager who planned the entire tour and carried the plans into execution.

So San Francisco feels well acquainted with Manager Strine, remembering also that besides the opera tours that have been enumerated he brought Sembrich to this coast, and with whatever enterprise the name of Strine may be associated, this man will be remembered for bringing to California the best singers and the best productions that there are in the world.

This season of 1905 has been carried through with enterprise and vigor characteristic of the manager, and all records have been surpassed. There have been no lulls, no disappointments and no failures, and for the entertainment and the added opportunities in musical culture our Californians would have given a great deal more than $120,000, if the box-office facilities had not at times been inadequate to the demands.

Here are the records of receipts for various grand opera seasons in San Francisco, showing that the record season which closed last night beats the world's record from a financial standpoint.

1900—Grau Company—Twenty-four performances and three Sunday concerts, $141,828.
1901—Grau Company—Thirty performances and three Sunday concerts, $179,125.
1902—Conried Company—Twelve performances and one Sunday concert, $120,079.

Receipts for one week of Conried exceed $30,413. This latter figure exceeds by $1000 the receipts of the recent Conried grand opera season of 1902 in Chicago, which up to that time held the world's record for financial returns of such enterprises.

ARCHB. SHOP WILL GO TO EUROPE

SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—Archbishop Riordan is making arrangements to take a long vacation, which will include a trip to the East and later to Europe. He will start shortly after Easter and will be accompanied by the Rev. Father M. D. Connolly, pastor of St. Paul's Church.

The Rev. Father Sesson, assistant pastor of St. Francis' Church, has been transferred to the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Oakland, and the Rev. Father H. K. White has been changed to St. Patrick's Church, West Oakland, to replace the Rev. Father McNulty, who has been appointed assistant pastor of St. Patrick's Church, San Jose. Father Sesson is a native of California and was first assigned to St. Raphael's Church, San Rafael, while there he ministered to the prisoners at San Quentin prison. Later he was assistant pastor at Temescal and of Sacred Heart parish, this city.

Shortly after the death of the Rev. Father Lagan he was assigned to St. Bridget's. He has traveled much, both in England and on the continent, and for some time he was in Italy.

Father White has recently acted as temporary pastor at Redwood City.

REV. FATHER YORKE GIVES LENTEN LECTURE.

Interesting Remarks of St. Anthony's Pastor—Speaks Again Wednesday.

The Rev. Father Yorke, pastor of St. Anthony's Church, East Oakland, delivered another of his Lenten series of lectures last evening.

The next lecture, Wednesday evening, April 19, will treat of "The Revolt of the North from the Church," commonly known as the reformation.

During the course of his remarks last evening, Father Yorke said: "In the Passion of our Lord, which is read in the mass of today, we learn how Judas betrayed his Master, how Peter denied him, how all the disciples fled away and left him.

"The inspired writer does not hide the weaknesses of the human instruments which Christ chose to fashion his church withal.

In the same way church history shows us the sad spectacle of men too small for high office, too corrupt for holy things, that we may learn the truth of the Apostle's words 'God hath chosen the weak things of this world to confound the strong and the foolish things to confound the wise, lest any flesh should glory in his sight.

"We have now to consider the closing centuries of the Middle Ages not as the culmination of the work of the church in the making of Europe but as the seed time of the modern world. During the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries were born the forces of which our time is the resultant. We are to see the processes by which the position of the papacy was so deteriorated that the Pope in temporal affairs declined from being the arbiter of Europe to be the creature of a French king and finally to the position of an ordinary Italian sovereign.

"The last of the great medieval Popes was Boniface VIII. He had the same lofty idea of his mission as Innocent III and Gregory VII. But the times had changed and men were not the same. In the old Roman Empire the nationality was Roman just as in all our states the nationality is American. This idea persisted even to the twelfth century, but little by little the idea of nationality grew stronger. England was a nation, France a nation, Spain a nation. The old Roman cosmopolitanism died hard but by the time of Boniface it was dead in France. When, therefore, the Pope appealed to the French king to help him in his struggle with the English king, they did not understand him and answered for the interests of France.

"In pursuance of the French national policy Philip the Fair and his lawyers determined to gain hold of the papacy itself. The successors of Boniface were French, they deserted Rome in 1309 took up their abode in French territory and for seventy years the church languished in what the anti-French writers called the Babylonian captivity.

"This was the first blow struck at the international character of the papacy.

When the Pope becomes the property of one monarch all other monarchs look askance. The results of the papal journey in Avignon are the strongest arguments for the independence of the Pope today.

The seventy years of captivity were followed by forty years of schism. Gregory XI, the last French Pope, came back to Rome in 1377 and died in the following year. The cardinals with him elected his successor, Urban VI, unanimously.

The new Pope, however, proved himself so severe and intractable that the cardinals left Rome, declared that the Roman mob had coerced them during the conclave, that Urban's election was null and void, and they chose Robert of Geneva as anti-Pope. He went back to Avignon, and this being probably the real cause of the schism, France and the countries under French influence acknowledged as true Pope, and thus what is called the great schism of the west began.

GREAT SCANDAL.

"The scandal of the schism was so great that attempts were made to end it by getting both competitors to resign. The Pope at Rome was for the most part willing to give up for the sake of peace, but Peter de Luna, the anti-Pope, was obdurate and intrigued with such success with the civil powers that for thirty-four years he held his evil dignity.

The Council of Pisa in 1409 aggravated the trouble by formally deposing both Popes and electing a third, so that now there were three instead of two claiming the obedience of Christendom. This said state of affairs was brought to an end in the council of Constance. The lawful Pope resigned, the two anti-Popes were abandoned by the civil powers and a new Pope was elected who closed the schism.

WAS WEAKENED.

"The result of this unhappy warfare was to weaken the ideal of the papal supremacy. Europe was accustomed to division in religious matters and the kings learned the utility to their schemes of having the church as a department of their respective states.

"The condition of religion was not bettered by what is called the revival of learning, but was really a revival of paganism. The fall of Constantinople in 1453 scattered the learned Greeks over Italy, and they brought with them their hereditary culture. Cicero and Livy, Plato and Aristotle were declared the true teachers of humanity, and unfortunately with the pagan authors came also the pagan conception of life and morals.

"Yet during those centuries marked by such disorders great saints were not wanting and great prophets to lift up the voice of rebuke and the word of warning. It was during those times that the imitation of Christ was written and that the noble Savonarola preached and died. But God's judgments were not His servants, and through the sins of His servants, and the sixteenth century saw the purification of the church yet so as by fire."

IMAGINES SHE IS WIFE OF A MAGNATE

Woman From Southern California
Declares She is the Wife of H. E. Huntington.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—There is a woman in Southern California who imagines she is Mrs. Huntington, the wife of H. E. Huntington, the millionaire and electric railway magnate of Los Angeles.

Such is the statement made this morning at the residence in this city of the Huntingtons. At the same time a positive denial was made to the dispatches from San Bernardino, which appeared in the morning's papers to the effect that H. E. Huntington Jr. had secretly secured a marriage license from the County Clerk of San Bernardino, and that the official obligingly placed the marriage certificate on a secret file in the order to keep secret the name of the lady in the case.

As the story from San Bernardino goes, a woman representing herself as Mrs. H. E. Huntington visited that city from Los Angeles Thursday afternoon and immediately sought the County Clerk for information regarding the alleged marriage certificate, but she was informed that the license had not been issued. She went to the County Clerk's office at intervals during the day on the same errand, and last night she returned to Los Angeles.

It was stated this morning at the Huntington home at Jackson and Broderick streets that Mrs. Huntington is in this city and has been at her home here for a long time. Nor has she been in Southern California for months. Young Huntington arrived here this morning from the South and went to his home in the family residence. He declared positively there is no truth in the story of his alleged marriage.

"There is some woman in Southern California who must be crazy, for she goes about imagining she is Mrs. Huntington," said Mrs. H. E. Huntington. "She evidently went to San Bernardino and caused this talk. The thing is made up out of whole cloth so far as young Mr. Huntington getting a license to marry is concerned."

PRISONERS TO WEAR STRIPES

Sentences Passed Out in the San Francisco Courts.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—Alfred Colon and Pedro Rivera, found guilty of burglary, were sentenced to five years each in San Quentin and Folsom, respectively, by Superior Judge Lawlor this morning. The convicted men burglarized a restaurant conducted by Giuseppe Liceti at 508 Broadway on the night of November 15, 1903.

When Louis Piper was sentenced to nine years in Folsom by Superior Judge Dunne this morning he declared that an innocent man was being sent to prison. Piper was found guilty of having stood up Frank Signorelli. He relieved his victim of two postal money orders valued at $200 and $500 in cash.

Four years in San Quentin was the sentence passed upon Edward Williams by Superior Judge Lawlor this morning. Williams burglarized the apartments of Clara E. Harris at 634 Bush street on the night of February 23.

George Gross entered a plea of guilty to a charge of attempted burglary and was sentenced to the County Jail for one year. Sentence was pronounced by Superior Judge Dunne.

G. H. Stafford pleaded guilty to a charge of grand larceny before Superior Judge Cook this morning, and an attempt was made to secure his release on probation. Judge Cook declared that in his opinion the probation law was unconstitutional. The case has been continued one week for sentence.

BURGLAR OF THE NATION CLASS SPRECKELS SAIL ON ALAMEDA

SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—In a downpour of rain the Alameda steamed down the bay this morning and headed for the islands. On board were William G. Irwin and Claus Spreckels on a business trip to Honolulu. The latter carries twenty-five cabin passengers and 1,200 tons of cargo.

The steamer quarters have been enlarged at the expense of cargo capacity, so that 100 more Japanese can be accommodated.

The Australia, which is now getting ready for sea, will probably go to the islands for a cargo of Japanese immigrants.

In the list of her officers are several from the Alameda. R. H. Coughlin, second officer of the Alameda, goes to the Australia as first officer; Louis Dreusen takes his place, and Pilot Jordan's son goes in Dreusen's old berth as third mate of the Alameda.

James Connors will be chief engineer of the Australia, and Steve Shipman, who has been second assistant on the Alameda, goes to the Australia as first assistant.

Captain Rennie will command the Australia.

BIG LINER ON WAY TO COAST

SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—The big liner Dakota, the sister ship of the Minnesota, is now on its way to the Pacific Coast. The big boat was built for the Hill lines, and when she reaches this coast will be put on the run between Seattle and the Orient. The Dakota left New York Thursday.

Word was received at the Merchants' Exchange yesterday that the German steamer J. L. Luckenbach, from Norfolk, Va., was forced to put into port at Natal. Her boilers were leaky, and the big vessel had great difficulty in reaching port. The Luckenbach was formerly one of the big German liners which plied between Hamburg and the United States. She was caught in the famous Hoboken fire and a number of men perished in her hold. Since that time she has been converted into a freight vessel and was on her way to the Philippines when the accident to her boilers occurred.

YOUTH PROVES A HERO

Twelve Year Old Boy
Prevents Accident
in Runaway.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—In a collision between a pony cart and an automobile at Devisadero and McAllister streets last night, 13-year-old Kaspar Pischel Jr., the driver of the cart, proved himself a real hero. Though the cart was badly wrecked and the fractious ponies plunged desperately in their endeavor to escape, he pluckily held fast to the reins and controlled the maddened animals until Policeman Hopper came to his rescue and took the team in hand. Two companions of the boy driver and him it would have been killed or seriously injured had it not been for his game efforts to subdue the horses.

Kaspar Pischel Jr. is the son of Kaspar Pischel of 1317 California street, and the lad's last birthday present was a fine pony team and cart. Last night he invited two of his playmates to accompany him for a ride, and the lads were out to make a merry evening of it. They drove about town for several hours, and were on their way home when young Pischel tried to pass a passing car. While the team was standing at the corner of Devisadero and McAllister streets an automobile driven by A. Knowles of 318 Bush street came dashing around the corner. The boy driver could not get his rig out of the way in time and cart and auto came in violent collision.

The front end of the cart was wrecked, and the boy driver's companions were badly frightened. Kaspar Pischel Jr., however, kept his head. His ponies started to run, but he did not become excited, nor did he lose his head at all. He kept the ponies well in hand, and would probably have succeeded in subduing them, even though the policeman did not come to his rescue.

BURGLAR OF THE NATION CLASS ROBBED BY HER ADMIRER

SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—The police are searching for a burglar who is in the Carrie Nation class. In fact, the officers would be inclined to believe that the "sensation" herself had been operating in San Francisco, if it were not a matter of common notoriety that just at present fair Caroline is giving her undivided attention to affairs in Kansas.

What leads the police to believe that one of the down-with-all-runs class is holding forth in the city is from a report that was filed at police headquarters this morning by William T. Burke, who boasts the proprietorship of a wet goods emporium at 5 Howard street. Burke avers that his place was burglarized some time during last night. The thief effected an entrance to the saloon by forcing a rear window. He did not get any cash, and could not get any of the bottles of whiskey, but before taking his departure he opened the faucet in a barrel of whiskey and allowed fifty gallons of the precious fluid to go to waste.

The proprietor of the place puts a valuation of $100 on the wasted whiskey.

PROBATE NOTES IN SUPERIOR COURT

An inventory and appraisement of the estate of A. A. Putnam, an incompetent person, was filed Saturday by J. L. Scotchler, Whipple Hall and Ross Brown, who value it at $38,906.92. It consists of $3,026.93 in cash, Spring Valley water works to the amount of $7,800, notes secured by mortgages of $5,000 and a piece of realty at Front and Washington streets worth $18,000.

The sale of some lots on Olive street, near Perilla avenue, belonging to the estate of Amanda French by William C. Ackerman, as administrator of her estate, to L. D. Reeb for $350, has been confirmed by Judge Ogden.

Charles Rein Jr. has filed a petition for letters of administration of the estate of the late Gertrude Rein. Her estate is said to be worth $500.

ARTIFICIAL RAIN.

Sir Oliver Lodge's fog-dispelling apparatus might be useful in the cleared plains east of the Rocky mountains and in all sections of the United States during times of drought. Electricity at the high voltage of 250,000 is sent lightning-like through the air. A succession of these discharges condenses the moisture in the atmosphere, with a cleansing effect similar to that produced by lightning.

Although the object of the apparatus in England is to dissipate fog, analogous reasoning would point to its value as a rain producer. The fog is driven away by being turned into rain. The same electrical process should produce rain wherever there is a fair amount of moisture in the atmosphere.

The southern planters, in being urged to reduce their cotton acreage, are also urged to plant more corn. A regular campaign is being carried on for the reduced cotton acreage. Governor Yardaman of Mississippi, who is nothing if not energetic, is winning popular approval by going on a busy tour of speech-making to the cotton planters.

FIRE IN PAPER STORE

Blaze of Unknown
Origin Across the Bay.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—What might have been a disastrous fire, had it not been for the prompt and effective work of the fire department, was discovered in the immense five-story brick building at the corner of Pacific and Front streets at 6:45 o'clock this morning.

The fire started in some mysterious manner on the fourth floor of the structure just above 705-707 Front street, which is occupied by the Crown Paper Company, and spread rapidly to the third and second floors, where the same corporation has immense stocks of paper and paper bags stored. The flames were issuing from all the windows when the first division of the department arrived and a second alarm was promptly turned in from Box 384. The burning paper was deluged with tons of water, and it is estimated that the damage to this stock alone will reach something like $20,000.

A Zellerbach & Sons, who occupy the basement of 705-707 Front street, will also lose heavily by the morning fire, which carried a $30,000 paper stock, and the basement is wooded by the water that was used to deluge the burning stock on the floor above. In the basement of the corner of Front and Pacific street, occupied by the Standard Biscuit Company, it will require $2,000 to cover the damage done by the fire.

The fire was discovered by Henry Mitchell, an employee of the Crown Paper Company. He opened the store at 6:45 o'clock, and at that time there was a great volume of smoke on every floor. He ran to his room on the fourth floor where the fire was burning furiously, but there was nothing to show how the fire started. He at once turned in the first alarm and telephoned to Manager L. Schwabacher. When the manager reached the scene he superintended the covering of the stock to save it from further damage.

Members of the fire department are inclined to attribute the blame for the fire to the defective insulation of electric wires. It is estimated that it will take about $2,000 to repair the damage done the building.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—Florence Anderson, who is employed in the Olympic dance hall at 510 Pacific street and who lives in Oakland, was relieved of a gold neck chain and $1.10 in cash last night. The girl was drinking in the dance hall with a man named George Miller. After they had taken several drinks he told the girl that he wanted her chain and money and proceeded to take them away from her.

After Miller left the dance hall the Anderson woman reported the robbery to the proprietor of the place. Officer M. F. Joy was called and arrested Miller at Pacific and Kearny streets. He was registered on the detective book at the City Prison and will be charged with grand larceny.

MARKED BILLS ARE FOUND

District Attorney Said to Have Bribe Money
For Evidence.

SACRAMENTO, April 17.—Frank French, E. J. Emmons and Eli Wright, who were expelled from the upper house during the last legislature, appeared before Judge Hart in the Superior Court this forenoon.

The men were indicted by the Sacramento grand jury on charges of bribery. Their attorneys made motions to quash the indictments upon the ground that the grand jury had not been legally drawn.

In an opinion rendered a few days ago Judge Hart overruled the motions and held that the accused men would have to go to trial. This morning Judge Hart informed the defendants that their motions were denied.

Judge Hart said he had received a telegram from Kansas City, from George D. Collins, of counsel for the defense, requesting a delay in the case of French. The case was continued until the 20th inst.

The cases of Emmons and Wright were continued for one week in order to give their attorneys an opportunity to file a demurrer to the indictments. It is said that District Attorney Seymour has succeeded in locating some of the marked bills which it was alleged, were paid to the three men.

The trial of Harry Bunkers, also charged with bribery, will begin in the Superior Court next Monday morning.

MAY BE HANGED FOR THEIR CRIMES

SACRAMENTO, April 17.—J. W. Finley and Charles Carson, two Folsom Prison inmates, who are serving life terms in that institution, were assigned in the Superior Court this forenoon before Judge Hart on charges of having made assaults with deadly weapons upon officers of the prison. The men were ringleaders in the break at the prison last September, when some of the convicts were killed and others wounded by the guards. If these men should be convicted of the charges against them they will be hanged.

BURGLARS STEAL SILVER SPOONS

SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—The residence of Mrs. Julius Krager at 20 Henry street was entered by burglars some time during last night. The thieves opened the front door of the residence with a skeleton key. They secured a gold watch, silver spoons and three gold rings valued at $63. The police are investigating the burglary, but so far have failed to find a clue to the identity of the burglars or the whereabouts of the plunder.

HELD TO ANSWER

MARTINEZ, April 17.—Zimmerman, the bank robber, has been held to answer.

Public sentiment against the acceptance of railroad passes by public officials is at least on the increase. The Nebraska Legislature last week killed a number of anti-pass measures, and a pretty storm of protest appears to have roused at once. The Nebraska legislators will evidently have some tough questions to tackle when they get home, and there is talk already that the complexion of the next Legislature will be much changed.

JAPS SAY TREATY IS VIOLATED

Trouble May Follow
Action of These Miners.

MARYSVILLE, April 15.—Some time ago three Japanese who went from this city to Brown's Valley to work upon an old dump there for a new mining company were advised to leave after they had worked but about ten minutes.

It seems that the men of Brown's Valley do not believe in allowing the Japanese to take their places, so about a dozen of them swooped down upon the three Japs and ordered them to leave in double-quick time. They took the hint and returned to Marysville with all possible speed.

Word was received here today that they have reported the incident to the Japanese Minister and that official has notified the United States Government that the treaty between the two nations has been violated.

It is reported that an investigation will be made by the United States, and the little incident may not end as peacefully as it was thought by those who ordered the three little brown men to leave.

RUSSIANS ARE GUESTS AT PALACE

SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—For several days Princess Cantacuzene, wife of Prince Cantacuzene, one of the members of Russia's aristocracy, has been a guest at the Palace Hotel.

The princess is alone in this city, and for that reason it is presumed she has sought to exclude herself from the public as much as possible. Upon her arrival she did not place her name upon the register.

She has spent some of her time with Sir Charles and Lady Hume, who are also guests at the Palace.

Her husband is a cousin of the Prince Cantacuzene, who married Julia Dent Grant, daughter of Frederick Dent Grant.

Accompanied by a small party of friends the princess yesterday visited Mount Tamalpais.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Comdr Peary's choice of a name for his Arctic steamer could not be bettered. The Roosevelt deserves good luck and the gallant explorer and pole-hunter the greatest of Arctic prizes.

A recent picture of Field Marshal Oyama, reproduced in Collier's Weekly, shows a surprising likeness to the late Paul Kruger. The Japanese leader has grown a chin beard while in the field, hence the transformation in his appearance and the most unlooked-for resemblance to the old Boer.

ANCIENT HISTORY.

"In all probability we can walk far back into the ancient history, with sure tread and solid certainty, in the land of Egypt as in any other land upon the globe. Dean Stanley, in his well-known sermon, "The Land of Egypt," has said considerable length. The land of Egypt is to this hour, rich in monuments and exhibits of its ancient life. The clear, dry climate, the necessity of the desert, the absence of great grassy plains, have overwhelmed the passionate desire of the old Egyptians to perpetuate every familiar and loved object as long as human power and skill could compass it. In all parts of the country, this result. The preserving and embalming customs of that ancient people were such that we can go back and look upon their household utensils and wall decorations, their ways and their games, their life, their personal adornment and their books. We can even go back and look upon the very bodies and faces of those men and women who lived and died four thousand years ago. We can go back and stand in the great Giza Museum at Cairo, looking upon the mummified face and form, which is pronounced by eminent archaeologists to be without doubt that of Ramesses II., the Pharaoh of the Exodus, and we can stand and hear I could almost see the wizened face frowning in angry refusal, and hear

"When that representative of the Out-look, Mr. Charles B. Spahr, went through some of the cotton mills of New England he found that the average number of men and women, hundreds of children, some of them as young as 13, though that was against the published rules, but he found that the average was 40 to 45. He remarked upon this fact, for the mills had been in operation for many years and there would naturally have been time to get rid of these things and these factories. He was promptly told that the strain was so severe that men were worn out at 45 and no longer able to do the work. He was then thrown aside. They either had to seek other employment, which was hard to obtain, for men of the mill were kept in the mill, or the mill or the fall had to ruin the families. In the latter event one of two things happened, either the wife usually had to go to the mill, or she had to live with nigger-feminine fingers, took her place in the factory while the husband fell upon the astonished ears of Pharaoh and the oppressor. The divine sympathy is there. My people have no fault to find with the property of an irresponsible monarch; not so many thousands of hands herded together by a hard-hearted estate factory owner, nor the millions of slaves of the modern chilly economist, but My people! The divine purpose for all these multitudes is there—That they may serve me, that I may be glorified, that the will of God that Every life born into this world should grow tall and straight, strong and clean, by the conservation of the life force, that I may be glorified, that I may demand for adequate opportunity, is also there—Let My people go forth these struggling souls must be released from the bondage of the material world, to the divine purpose. In all the earnest appeals of poet and prophet, of wisdom and reformer in modern times, I find and I hear upon its face more clearly, the divine credential than that word of truth

"You will find the same thing, also, in the Standard Oil Company, the Pullman Co., a Macon and Dixon's line. In the fall of 1902, as winter came on, we were fast in the grip of the great coal strike. I had been on for months. Cellars were empty and the mass of the coal dealers held out but meager supply. The demand for coal was great, the price was forced up and the poor people of Chicago and New York found themselves unable to keep their homes warm. They had a little bit of cooking on little oil stoves. Some of them, in dark, chilly rooms, were burning these stoves day and night to keep out the frost which covered the windows. The children were shivering at the shivering children. Everywhere among the poor, the little coal-oil stove was pressed into service because it was cheaper than coal.

"Then, just at that juncture, our cruelty and the horror of it that well known to the people of the world, was in the Standard Oil Company and who like Pharaoh of old, has been building himself of late a stately mausoleum, and

POPE'S ADDRESS

We read some time ago the message of a certain high ecclesiastic, the Pope of Rome, to the people of the world. Well meant and kindly words they were but in the judgment of many were not wisely chosen. The Pope's principle. He exhorted the tolling millions in his own communion to be content with their lot. He exhorted them to be content with the state to which it had pleased the Lord to bring them. But men ought not to be content with their lot. It is of the essence of progress that they should continually better their lot; and that eager desire for a better lot, for a finer, fuller life, is primal in the nature of man. It is the divine spirit upon them. It was therefore, nothing less than blasphemy when Pharaoh said to his magicians, "Who is the Lord, impelling the people to this?" Pharaoh, freer and more joyful life, that I should obey his voice and let Israel go." Pharaoh was a man of knowledge, not the Lord. It was all too true. Pharaoh was unacquainted with the God who speaks in the words of the prophets. Pharaoh was wrong. Industrial conditions speak in terms of social unrest, and the world is the book of the wistful lives of the poor. The world is the book of the foredoomed to failure. The world is the book of their existence. Who is the Lord? I know not the Lord!—and by that taunting cry the world's march is already predicting his downfall!

The mind naturally runs ahead to that which is to come. The mind is not satisfied. He pictured himself as sitting upon his throne, saying to the multitude on either

MISS ANDERSON OUT FOR A GOOD TIME.

She Says She Was Robbed BY Her Friend and Appeared As Prosecutor in Court.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—"Go back to Oakland and stay there," was Judge Fritz's dismissal of Florence Anderson, about 18 years old and passing comely. She was arrested for vagrancy at the same time that George Miller was taken from a Pacific street dance hall and booked for larceny on her complaint.

The girl stated that she lived in the St. Charles House, on Thirteenth street, near Broadway. One day, and that she crossed the bay with Miller, father of two sick children, to have a "good time." While they were in the dance hall he plucked a gold chain from her neck and a purse containing $15.00 from her hand, saying: "I want these," and when she told the floor manager of what had happened, he recovered the chain and gave it to her, but could not obtain the purse, so he called Patrolman Joy and gave the thief into custody.

"I was only joshing," pleaded Mr. Miller. "I wish," said his Honor, "that residents of Oakland would confine their illicit 'good times' to that town, because the San Francisco police and police courts can be kept from ennuil by San Francisco residents indulging in that sort of thing. Miller, you are fined $5, and Miss Anderson is at liberty to return to Alameda county."

"Gracious," hope the papers won't get hold of this," remarked Miss Anderson as she withdrew.

TRAIN KILLS DAIRYMAN

IS STRUCK BY LOCOMOTIVE WHILE LOOKING FOR HIS COWS.

POINT RICHMOND, April 17.—E. R. Jensen, a milkman of this town, was killed here yesterday by the Santa Fe train which left Oakland at 7:45 o'clock at the crossing of the Santa Fe and the Southern Pacific tracks near here.

Jensen's home is near the crossing and he had gone out to look for his cows and, not noticing the approach of the train, was struck from behind and instantly killed. He was well known in this section and was about 50 years old. A widow and four children survive him.

SALE OF REALTY.

Manager Guernsey of the Suburban Realty Company, the San Francisco firm handling Bay View Park tract, reports business as being very good. He says his company sold thirty-four lots during the past month, which brings the total sales in this tract up to 380 lots since the land was placed on the market a little less than five months ago.

ORGANIZE LODGE.

All persons who signed the application for the charter to institute a Druids lodge in this city will be on hand at Schach's Hall promptly on Sunday afternoon, April 23, at 1 o'clock. The grand officers will be present to take charge of the instituting ceremonies. About forty have signed the application for a charter thus far and more names will probably be added before the date fixed for organization.

BRIEFLETS.

The committees for a union picnic of the Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian and Christian Sunday schools of Richmond have been appointed. The great picnic will be held Sunday, May 10, at Schach's Hall, Richmond.

The dynamo and power machinery and the forces of electricity of the East Shore and Suburban Railway will move up to Richmond from Point Richmond about May 1.

Miss Lottie Smallwood, sister of Smallwood, the furniture man, will build a two-story Richmond avenue store.

PERSONALS.

The Rev. Dr. John Coyle of Oakland preached at the Methodist Chapel last night.

Mrs. Grace West and Mrs. Lillian Boswell, delegates to the Royal Neighbors of America at San Jose, returned this week from a delightful trip. West acted as marshal. The next meeting will be held at Oakland two weeks hence.

Albert Langkamp of Pittsburg, Penn., a nephew of C. H. Wunderlich, arrived in Point Richmond yesterday and will remain here for some time. He was here eighteen months ago, and noticed that Richmond is growing rapidly.

PROTECT EMPLOYEES AGAINST "SHARKS"

There has been a notice posted in all the car barns and headquarters of the Oakland Traction Consolidated warning

"THE OPPRESSION OF A PEOPLE."

left hand: "I was hungry and ye gave me no meat. I was sick and ye visited me not. I was a stranger and ye took me not in." And in almost indignant surprise, they cried: "Lord, when saw we thee hungry, or sick, or a stranger, ministered unto thee?" They too knew not the Lord, who had appeared to them and appealed to them in the common want in the oft-recurring necessities of the plain people. And Jesus answered them: "Inasmuch as ye did it not to the least of these, ye did it not to me. Depart from Me, I never knew you."

"I know not the Lord," said Pharaoh of old. "Ye have said the Lord," said the selfish multitude standing in the day of judgment because they had not heard the call of Christ in the needs of the many. And the heartless people of our own day, who fail to recognize in the wistful faces of the helpless poor the beseeching face of the Master, and by their course of action guilty of the same selfish utterance. And inevitably in the hour of judgment there must come back to them that same solemn word of condemnation: "Depart from Me; I never knew you."

IN EXTREME PERIL.

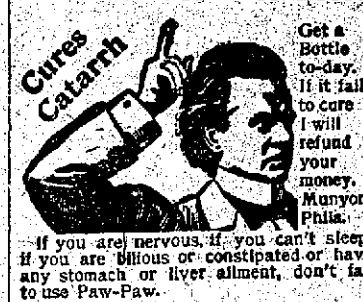

"When any man in the pleasant prosperity of his own life reaches the point where he can look out upon the want and pain of the world, upon the failure and degradation of whole classes of society upon the blind struggles of the unskilled, unorganized hewers of wood and drawers of water, upon the countless altitudes of plain folk defeated in the better impulses of their natures by conditions too hard for them—when any man reaches the point where he can see all this un-moved and not hear anything through it a divine protest and a divine appeal, he may know of a certainty that he is in extreme moral peril. If he can witness all this and yet not know the Lord who speaks to the hearts of men through such appeals, he is already in peril. He is in peril of the divine judgment where the Lord of all the earth will say to him: 'Thou art a man of blood, and through the fiery penalties of his moral indignation, I never knew you. Inasmuch as ye did it not to the least of these, ye did it not to me.'"

AUTO MEN WILL FIGHT

DO NOT WANT TO PAY THE STATE A FEE OF $4.

LOS ANGELES, April 17.—War has been declared by the Automobile Club of Southern California upon the construction placed by Secretary of State Curry on the automobile law of California as passed by the last Legislature. A. P. Fleming, secretary of the club, left last evening for Sacramento to protest to the Secretary of State that if he persists in his decision the matter will be fought out in the courts.

The point at issue is that relating to the amount that shall be paid by the owners of automobiles into the State treasury. The law became effective March 22 and members of the automobile club forwarded numerous applications to the Secretary of State, accompanied by $2 for each machine or a similar amount for a chauffeur's badge. All applications were returned to the club members a few days ago, accompanied by a circular letter from the Secretary of State stating that it is necessary that each person, including the owner, should apply for and have issued an individual chauffeur's badge, all applications to be accompanied by $2, making a total of $4 to be paid by an automobile owner.

Members of the club were stirred by this decision. They believe the law has been wrongly construed, and Secretary Fleming was sent post-haste to Sacramento to protest.

PLANS FOR SCHOOL OF FINE ARTS

NEW YORK, April 17.—Plans for a school of fine arts, equal to the Ecole des Beaux Arts of Paris, have been made public by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, President of Columbia University. They are based upon the consolidation of the National Academy of Design and the present art interests of Columbia University, to be aided by the co-operation of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, who have agreed to contribute $500,000 will be necessary to finance the enterprise. One-fifth of that sum already has been contributed by a citizen whose name has not been made public. It is expected that the site, which the Academy of Design acquired at Amsterdam avenue and 110th street, where the temporary school now stands, will be sold and the proceeds applied to maintenance of the proposed institution. The Academy will then, if the present negotiations are approved, build on a site opposite Columbia University, a structure in which will be housed schools of painting, sculpture, architecture, design, and archaeology, all under the general direction of the University.

The plan rests largely upon suggestions made by Sir Caspar Purdon Clarke, the newly-elected director of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, who came from London a few weeks ago, urging that the Museum must be a living institution and that the genius of American artists should be fostered.

Under the name of the Academy of Design of Columbia University, the new college will teach aesthetics and the philosophy of art, while the Academy of Design will teach the technique and instruct pupils how to create works of art. The Metropolitan Museum of Art will so arrange its collections as to make them object lessons to the students. It is believed by the promoters that this plan will not only greatly encourage American artists, but will improve and develop crafts and manufactures throughout the country.

The trustees of the Academy may act on the matter in a few days or possibly not until the annual meeting, May 10.

MAKES DEFENSE FOR JACK LONDON

Editor TRIBUNE.—A few years ago I became interested in Socialism, and became a convert, as must everyone who carefully studies and investigates, but it seemed to me I lacked the essential of success, that all great reforms have had at certain periods of their existence, and that was opposition. The papers seldom mentioned it, the ministers laughed it, politicians did not reckon it, and all along the line I noticed this great want lacking; but after reading last evening's TRIBUNE, I find I was mistaken; opposition is coming along most beautifully, evidently the time was simply delayed, that was all.

It takes one back to the anti-slavery days to hear Jack London refused to lecture before the High School students unless paid. Wendell Phillips, when sought by liars, always stated his terms as a lecturer on slavery was "nothing," all other subjects were subject to him. So I think that scribbler who wrote the article you copied from the "News Letter," continues my brother. In the good work abuse London all you can. Socialism has only pity for such as you, and you help no more than you can ever know, because you set people to thinking and investigating, and that is all Socialism asks.

Editor TRIBUNE: It is with much pleasure that I chronicle the arrival of another California writer. His name is E. Spence De Pue, and he is a citizen of Fruitvale. Dr. De Pue, as he is familiarly known in local quarters, being a physician, has contributed quite liberally to the leading magazines and has recently published by the Dillingham of New York a novel "Doctor Nicholas Stone," which is a rattling good detective story, and in which poisons figure largely.

Dr. De Pue, being familiar with the section of different drugs, has plausibly interwoven into the story many entirely new phases of poisoning, which make his book thrillingly interesting.

The doctor is a most congenial gentleman, a writer of forcefulness, and there seems to be scarcely a superfluous word in what he writes. I look for a brilliant future for him.

Maligning the University.

We did not expect to find the Colusa Sun indulging in such claptrap as the statement that "the University farm should not be under city influences." There is no suggestion that it should be. It is only proposed to locate the farm within a short distance from Berkeley, which in any event would place it some miles distant from the University. This is what the Sun calls placing it "under city influences."

This piece of bumpkin buncombe is made the text for a vicious attack on the morals of the students of the State University. Taking it up, the Nevada City Miner-Transcript says:

"The Colusa Sun hits the nail squarely on the head with reference to the Agricultural College farm when it says that the institution must not be under city influences. That is the difficulty with Berkeley, and that those influences do not tend to the advancement of the University in morals is certainly indicated in the reports from the State University, itself, of boys singing noisily in drunken measures on their way home at night, of youngsters playing the races, of 'blind pigs' in Berkeley, and of other city 'pleasures.' The city really has nothing in harmony with the country. It never has had. School boys know of the contempt displayed by the Athenian citizens for the farmers of Boeotia and their satirical reference to Boeotian wits. Today the 'smart' city resident refers to someone who is stupid as a 'farmer.' The city influence tends to belittle agriculture as a life pursuit, and such are the seductions of the metropolis that the country-bred lad is likely to be irresistibly drawn into the whirl and a man who, as a farmer, might have been a leader in the community where he lived, passes into the city life as a subordinate on a small salary—a dependant on others."

In deportment, habits and character the student body at Berkeley will compare favorably with any similar body in the United States. In no European university can be found as large a body of moral young men. There are occasional scandals at Berkeley, it is true, but scandals are no more common there than elsewhere. A few young men go wrong, but that is inevitable in a body of 1,500 young men.

The stories of drinking and other rowdy practices are very much exaggerated, and convey to people at a distance an exceedingly distorted idea of the social side of student life at the State University. Those most familiar with it will bear testimony that it is as free from demoralizing influences as is student life at Ann Arbor or Stanford. No comparison can be made with Harvard, Columbia or Chicago, because in the first the dormitory system prevails and the student bodies of the other two are so swallowed up in the mass of a great seething population as to have no separate existence such as distinguishes the student body at Berkeley.

More moral cultivated and moral surroundings than exists at Berkeley cannot be found anywhere. Society there is refined and simple, and the social atmosphere is wholesomely tinged with religious thought. Woodland is a sink of iniquity compared to Berkeley, and the moral atmosphere of Stockton or Sacramento is a thousand times more tainted than is the atmosphere of the seat of the University of California.

Our friends in the interior should not permit their eagerness to get the University farm to seduce them into maligning the student body of the University and decrying the University itself. Fair play is as much a jewel in the country as it is in the city.

A London paper says Rojstvensky is steering straight for Vladivostok. However, this statement will not remove the impression that his real destination is Davy Jones' locker.

The burial place of John Paul Jones has been found again. The great sea fighter seems to have been buried in as many different places as Washington's body servant.

In the Equitable Life Insurance fight it seems to be a case of Hyde going with the hair.

More Scandals in the Army.

Another unsavory domestic scandal has developed in the United States army. Major Taggart has sued his wife for divorce, charging her with drunkenness and misconduct with various army officers. Mrs. Taggart, in turn, alleges that her husband is guilty of intemperance, infidelity and cruelty. Coming on the heels of a series of similar scandals, culminating with the conviction of Captain Kingman by a court martial, the Taggart case is calculated to make one inquire what has become of the high sense of honor which used to be the distinguishing mark of the officers of the United States army. Ever since the Spanish war military circles have been rife with scandals in variety—embezzlements, adulteries, duplication of pay accounts, falsification of vouchers, etc. Major Carrington, formerly a popular officer, was recently sentenced to sixty-six years penal imprisonment for embezzling Government funds in the Philippines, and only a few weeks ago a young Lieutenant in San Francisco deserted his command and his wife to run off with a pretty hospital nurse, while the noisome Madden scandal is still fresh in the public mind.

What is the matter? Is the American army going through the demoralizing experience that has been such a fruitful cause of Russian disaster in the Manchurian war? Has the craze for luxury and pleasure corrupted and enervated the sons of West Point?

OLD HYMNS TO ORTHODOXY.

Editor TRIBUNE: I notice in the comments of the recent revival movement its hymns are referred to as "machine made."

Is this quite well or wise or even true?

Observe, the epithet is applied to the "Gospel Hymns." The spontaneity with which they were sung at the meetings and are sung by an ordinary church congregation whenever modern musical eclecticism gives the congregation a chance implies that they possess a genuine catholicity. They were born at a time when the religion of the churches was expressed in meditation and heart-experiences instead of as now in material activities.

The fact is, the new ethics has not yet produced its service of song. At present American congregations listen to a new orthodoxy and sing an old one; in which these simple, transparent lyrics should have place. The spiritual victories of Moody and Bliss and Sankey and Sims Reeves were attended and largely caused by them. They have been and are the musical worship of millions. If they were made by machinery may it not have been similar to that which produced the Golden Harp?

A QUESTION FOR THE O'S AND MAC'S.

There has always been some dispute as to the Irish heads of families who were entitled to use the definite article before their names. By general consent the following persons are allowed that honor: The O'Connor Don, The McDermott, The O'Donoghue, The McGillicuddy of the Reeks, The O'Grady and The O'Sullivan. Others, however, have laid claim to the title, which proclaims the chieftaincy of one of the ancient septs, probably with perfect right. That fiery old veteran, The O'Gorman Mahon, the last of the Irish duellists, was wont to say that only three personages could properly use the prefix:

PHILIPPINE OUTLAWS

Felizardo and Montalon are leaders of the lardones in Cavite and Batangas, in the Philippines. A field correspondent says: "The utmost sang-froid characterizes the movements of these two audacious leaders. In the Paranaque raid, Felizardo, on his beautiful gray pony, stolen in 1901 from Pasay race track, rode almost over the constabulary sentinel. The latter, although he emptied his piece at Felizardo's breast, was unable to hit him. The corporal of the guard also fired his pistol, but with no better success. Felizardo, however, from his seat in the saddle, shot down the sentinel in cold blood, showing the most remarkable marksmanship—for a native—as well as superb horsemanship."

Time after time Felizardo and Montalon have been reported as surrounded, but somehow they have always succeeded in eluding their would-be captors. They have operated since the inception of civil government almost exclusively in the province of Cavite and apparently have no fear of either scouts or constabulary forces. Time after time towns garrisoned by constabulary have been raided by their forces and while they have invariably made capture of rifles, ammunition and constabulary uniforms, the troops have been unable to approach them sufficiently close to deal them a heavy blow."

On suspicion of informing the authorities as to the movements of lardones in Batangas a friendly native, Beas Cabrea, was recently seized. By order of Montalon, the leader of the outlaws, his lips were cut off. The victim was also "hamstrung," the tendons of his legs being severed, so that he will be a cripple for life. He is now under hospital treatment in Manila.

THE BLUES

I do not fret because it's wet,
I do not sigh because
Through foolish waste or reckless haste
I'm poorer than I was;
But, oh, I'm very, very blue;
I can't tell why—I wish I knew.

Life seems a hollow mockery,
A useless thing, at best;
There does not chance, just now, to be
A knife-thrust in my breast;
I've lost no friend nor made a foe,
And why I'm sad I do not know.

I do not mourn because I've worn
My clothes to shabbiness;
I'm big and strong and nothing's wrong;
I'll candidly confess—
But I am weary in my soul;
The world is such a dismal hole!

The sun is shining in the sky,
The robin's on the wing,
But, oh, to just lie down and die
And not know anything!
My heart is heavy, I am sad—
It seems so foolish to be glad.

The south wind blows through scented rows
Of apple trees in bloom,
But every man I turn to scan
Is going to his tomb;
I whistled yesterday—alack
Fair yesterday will ne'er come back!

The things that charmed me once appear
Unworthy, or are gone;
My goal has fallen, and I hear
No voice cry, "Up and on!"
You call me foolish—so are you,
Confound it, when you're feeling blue!

First Sermon She Has Heard in Twenty-Five Years.

CHICAGO, April 17.—The first "sermon by telephone" ever preached in Chicago has enabled Mrs. Mary F. de Blois, who is quite deaf, to follow every word of the first sermon she has heard in twenty-five years.

The sermon was preached by her son, the Rev. Austen K. De Blois, at the First Baptist Church. Although he was ordained seven years ago, Mrs. de Blois never had heard her son's voice from the pulpit, and her dearest wish was gratified. Seven other persons of impaired hearing also were able to understand everything the minister said. The eight persons shut off from the rest of the world by reason of their affliction were connected with the pulpit

"LOVE" NOW RECOGNIZED BY FRENCH AUTHORITIES

PARIS, April 17.—The commission which is reforming the civil code has taken up the question of marriage, and has drawn attention to the fact that the word "love" does not occur in the regulations relating to the mutual obligations in marriage. The French marriage law declares that "the contracting parties shall undertake to be faithful to each other and shall mutually protect and assist each other," but there is no mention of "love, honor" or "obey."

The commission having come to the conclusion that love should be the basis of marriage is taking steps to have the term included in the section of the code relating to marriage. Considerable opposition to this, however, is being shown by the public, because it would altogether alter the marriage as it exists in France. Love is here made a secondary consideration, and the dowry the first, and few French parents will encourage their sons to marry penniless girls for love, whereas they will do all in their power to bring about a union with a young woman who has a substantial dowry.

Another change that is being made in the code is the insertion of the phrase, "the rights of the husband and wife shall be equal," which is equivalent to saying that the wife need not obey unless she wants to.

I WOULD T-HE POWER.

A little voice comes down to me,
I hear, a footstep on the stair;
A little laugh of childish glee,
A wee hand on the banister.

The voice says: "Pip, 'oo musn't look,"
And I pretend I cannot see,
Face hidden by my open book,
I'm deaf and blind as I should be.

A little touch upon my knee,
And I look up in mild surprise;
Whoever can this lady be?
"Why, I am Mom," says Miss Blue Eyes.

And "Mom" she is in very truth,
The only difference is in size,
The mystic days of my past youth
Come back to me through her sweet eyes.

If thou art "Mom," my pretty maid,
Where can my little Doris be?
A finger on her red lips laid,
"Hush, Doris is asleep," said she.

The greatest treasure left behind,
Of precious things that children know,
Is that one quaint conceit of mind,
The power to age or younger grow.

Of all sweet things that children know,
Of all strange things that they can be,
I would the power to younger grow
And be at will a child of three.

—Chicago Record-Herald.

EMPLOYEES OFFERED MONEY IF THEY WILL MARRY

COLUMBUS, O., April 17.—It is learned that General Superintendent M. S. Connors of the Hocking Valley, Ohio Central and Kanawha & Michigan, in the course of his speech dedicating the new Railway Y. M. C. A., at Middleport, put a premium on matrimony by offering to credit any employee of the road with thirty days' good time, if he were married within sixty days.

Already one young man has written to ask Mr. Connors to redeem his promise, and several others are known to be about to take advantage of the offer, which still has thirty days to run. It is reported that committees representing other divisions under Mr. Connors will shortly wait on him, asking him to make a similar offering to them.

DIES JUST BEFORE HER WEDDING

NEW YORK, April 17.—Miss Mattie Belle Quarrier, daughter of the late Archie Quarrier of Louisville, Ky., vice-president of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, is dead at the home of her brother in this city. She was a great beauty and was to have been married April 26 to James V. MacDonald.

Miss Quarrier had been ill with pleurisy, but sufficiently recovered last week to fix the date of her wedding. Sunday in a fit of coughing she burst a blood-vessel and death occurred almost immediately.

Woman who wears it well is rare but satisfying.

Just now the hardest thing for a woman to decide is whether she shall buy a reduced set of furs or a lot of those sheer, filmy organdies and linens.

Very long coats of the redingote persuasion are made up in some spring outfits, and they're all right for the woman who can afford to have short jackets also.

A style of trimming which emulates the lines of the redingote is used on many skirts. It runs part way down the skirt from the side fronts and then around the skirt.

CONCERNING WOMEN.

There was a striking scene at the Liverpool mosque the other day when a young English bride renounced Christianity for Islam on her marriage to a Mohammedan. The parties were Mohammed Ben Blicassim and Miss Clara Casey.

A certain debating society is discussing the question as to which is the angrier, the husband who goes home and finds that dinner is not ready, or the wife who has dinner ready and whose husband does not come home. It is believed that the debate will end in a draw.

Among Queen Victoria's many granddaughters only five, besides Princess Margaret, remain unmarried. They are Princess Victoria of England, Princess Beatrice of Saxe-Coburg, Princess Victoria of Schleswig-Holstein and Princess Ena of Battenberg. The last, it will be remembered, made her debut at the second court this year. Of the married granddaughters of Queen Victoria only four—the Duchess of Fife, Princess Charles of Denmark, Princess Louise of Schleswig-Holstein and Princess Alexandra of Teck—have homes in England.

Women have scored a great victory in France, writes Lady Violet Greville. A committee has been revising the civil marriage code on which, curiously enough, sat not only grave and reverend barristers full of the letter of the law, but also such advanced thinkers and men of the world as Messrs. Hervieu and Marcel Provost, two of the most subtle analysts of the feminine temperament. They have decided to erase the word obey from the marriage promise on the part of the woman and also to insert the word love on the part of both. Thus a man must now protect, aid and love his wife. This is a great step, in a country so conservative in its usages, toward the emancipation of women.

Signora Duse has just arrived in Paris to give a series of performances. When she last visited the French capital in 1899, Mme. Sarah Bernhardt generously placed her own theater, at the disposal of the Italian actress. She offered to do so this time, but Signora Duse has declined the offer in a curious letter to Mme. Bernhardt, which she heads: "There is no forgetfulness in my heart." In this strange epistle the writer says that while she will ever remember with respectful gratitude Mme. Sarah Bernhardt's past kindness she can never forget the unjust criticisms of her acting which Mme. Bernhardt recently made in an English magazine, and Signora Duse concludes the letter as she begins: "There is no forgetfulness in my heart."

HYPNOTISM TO RESTORE NERVES OF SOCIETY PEOPLE

STOCKHOLM, April 17.—Dr. Otto Wetterstrand has introduced the "sleep cure." It is intended to restore the nerves of jaded society people after a long season of fashionable dissipation. Dr. Wetterstrand makes his patients sleep as much as possible through three or four weeks, and often uses hypnotic suggestion to induce and prolong sleep.

Dr. Wetterstrand has treated over three thousand cases. The worried man reclines in an easy chair and sees others doing the same; he listens, as they do, to a quiet, forcible exposition of the cure from the doctor, who afterwards speaks to him individually in an undertone, "suggesting" the benefit his particular malady will receive. After a few days of such preliminary treatment the patient goes willingly to bed and to sleep, roused occasionally to a half-conscious state to eat and be tended. No unauthorized person is allowed to enter the room; the sleeper is put in rapport with a sympathetic nurse, and receives the necessary "suggestions" as to eating, etc., from the doctor himself.

"The remarkable results," says a great French physician, "which Wetterstrand has had will considerably extend the limits of suggestive therapy." The deeper the sleep, the quicker the cure, and, unlike that produced by hypnotic drugs, it is as invigorating as natural sleep, and allows nature an equal chance of repairing organic and functional disorders.

visitors have been the motif for much entertaining during their stay here.

A WEDDING.

NEEDLE IN HER FLESH FOR PAST 12 YEARS

NEW YORK, April 17.—Twelve years ago Mrs. Peter Turner of Dakeville, Conn., stepped on a needle, which penetrated one of her feet so deeply that it could not be found. Yesterday she pulled the needle out of the flesh in her hip. When the needle penetrated her foot it made a slight wound which soon healed and was forgotten.

Afterward Mrs. Turner was troubled with sharp pains in various parts of her leg, and more recently in her hip. Recently she discovered a sharp point projecting from the flesh. By the use of a pair of scissors she performed a slight surgical operation, and was then able to pull out the needle. It was perfect, but discolored after having been in her flesh twelve years.

HOW FOOD WORKS

A Sure Way Out of Bowel Troubles.

So called 'septic appendicitis' will often hang on for years. This is caused by white bread potatoes and other forms of starchy food that the individual does not properly digest and it is useless to attempt to make a permanent change by any form of drug for all drugs are equally useless. In time refuse to benefit where the cause of the disturbance is not removed.

Septic appendicitis is a general term for a diseased condition of the bowels caused from undigested starch, and is the cause of many deaths each year. Yet people must have starchy food.

It is a well established fact among physicians and individuals who have made the experiment, that when bowel obstructions are shown a change in food must be made. The famous predigested food—Grape-Nuts—is the most perfect remedy for it contains no medicine of any sort but it is made up of the selected parts of wheat and barley in which the starchy part has been changed into the form of sugar that is found in the human intestines after the starchy part of the food has been perfectly digested.

When Grape-Nuts food is used in place of hard bread and the other forms of starch the body is supplied with the necessary elements already in the form of this sugar (known as 'Post sugar') and is therefore ready for immediate assimilation for the first act of digestion has taken place outside of the body and during the process of manufacture.

Absolute certainty of results can be depended upon and the disease relieved by this new food.

A prominent Missouri editor tells this cheerful story

For three years I suffered from septic appendicitis with all that it involves. The aid of physicians was inadequate and the difficulty of finding food that would assimilate without great annoyance in the region of the vermiform appendix was fairly unmountable until I struck Grape-Nuts. Grape-Nuts I relish and digest comfortably. They have not only proven to be most satisfying and nutritious food but they have actually healed my ailment. I am today after several months' use of Grape-Nuts absolutely free of the ailment for which ever—In perfect health—and I attribute my strength of mind and body to Grape-Nuts.' Name given by Postum Company, Battle Creek, Michigan.

SMALL DEALERS WILL COMBINE

NEW YORK April 17—A meeting of retail coal dealers throughout the country has been called for this city May 19 to form a defensive alliance against the coal owner, and coal distributors. The avowed purpose of the movement is to devise methods for the quicker delivery of coal by the operators and its better preparation for shipment.

According to some of those interested the retailers claim to have not received the treatment of late at the hands of the shippers because of their small size as dealers and a few large ones have been forced out of business.

It is said the new association will not attempt to regulate prices beyond trying to secure lower freight rate concessions.

Flood of Los Angeles

Tries to Slay
"Bull".

LOS ANGELES, April 17.—Stormy scenes marked the close of yesterday's game between Seattle and Los Angeles, which ended at the end of the seventh inning, with the score of 7 to 2 in favor of Seattle. Up to the seventh inning the game was as pretty and as evenly contested as any seen on the local grounds this season.

Each team scored a single run in the first inning, and there was nothing more in the run column until the seventh, when Flood went to third on a passed ball and scored when a boy near the grand stand interfered with the ball, before the catcher could recover it. After a wrangle, the game proceeded. In the seventh, Umpire Perrine of Oakland called Kane in his attempt to steal second, and Flood, who was positive he touched the runner out, engaged in a wordy war with the umpire. After brief exchange, Flood made a rush at Perrine, but Dillon seized his second baseman and prevented an assault. Flood struggled for his freedom, and when he saw he could not reach the umpire with his hands, kicked at him, missing his face but a few inches. The disturbance on the field set the big crowd on edge.

Eventually the players resumed their positions, Flood going back to second, but Perrine ordered him off the grounds. Flood made another rush for the umpire, and again was blocked by Dillon's bulky form. When the game was resumed the Angels were nervous and went to pieces. Baum, who had managed to keep the hits well scattered up to this point, lost his cunning and was batted all over the lot. When Seattle retired six runs had been called.

Suddenly Perrine called the game, much to the astonishment of the crowd as well as to Manager Morley. Manager Hall of Seattle picked up his bat and his players to grab their bats, and all made a run for the clubhouse. The crowd swarmed over the grounds, Manager Morley meanwhile strenuously protesting against Perrine's action.

The umpire declared that Hall and Dillon had agreed to call the game at 4 o'clock in order to catch the train for the Los Angeles game. The crowd gathered about the umpire and voiced its sentiments, but no attempt was made to strike the official who finally was accompanied by police officers to his quarters. Morley made the following statement: "I told Perrine before the game, and he admits it, that, no matter how long it might take, the game must be played out. In the face of this he stopped play at 4 o'clock because, he says, Hall and Dillon had agreed to quit at that hour. I shall protest."

Pitcher Ferguson

Allows But
Three Hits.

BERKELEY, April 17.—California has not won the tennis championship from Stanford yet, but the chances of her doing it are exceedingly bright. In the first match, played between Claude A. Wayne of California and George Hodge of Stanford, the Blue and Gold was successful in one of the finest and most closely contested matches of any of the intercollegiate games.

The score of 2-5, 6-4, 6-3 shows how hard the players worked. Hodge started out by taking on a game, which was played from deuce to advantage a number of times. Then Wayne took one of the same kind. The next two games fell to the lot of Hodge, and the fifth game went Wayne's way, making the score 3-2 in favor of Hodge. From this time on through the first set Wayne had little to say in the game. Hodge played on the offensive throughout, and with his strong service, quick net work and accurate base line strokes he pulled out the next four games and the set.

Things began to look a little blue for California when Wayne lost the first two games of the second set to Hodge, but this reverse was soon advantage, and the score stood two all. Hodge planted four cannon-ball serves in Wayne's court, which brought the fifth game to the Stanford man. Wayne rounded up the score again by doing some pretty work at the net, but Hodge was not to be denied in his lead, so he annexed another game, making the score 4-3 in his favor. This was the end of his tale for this set, and Wayne pounded out three games in succession and called the set all his own.

THIRD SET.

This evened up matters and called for a third set to be played, which would decide whether or not California could clearly claim the intercollegiate championship. If the second match and doubles match were to be won this would give California the intercollegiate championship as far as points go, but this would not be the championship for the University, for the best man had lost, thus leaving a mar on the championship title.

Hodge took the first game in the third set without much trouble, but at this point Wayne seemed to come out of his trance, and after the second game there was no doubt as to the outcome of the match. Wayne annexed the next three games before Hodge had a chance to get in any of his work, but he managed to worm out a fifth game, making the score 3-2 in Wayne's favor. Wayne increased his lead by taking the next two games. At this point Hodge took a brace and pounded out a game and had the next one all set won by his score of 40-15, but Wayne evened up the points, and after the score had seen-sawed around the deuce mark for some time landed the final point, set and match.

RAIL FALLS.

The match between a second man, Neill Baker of California and James MacSwain of Stanford, was begun and the first set played off, resulting in a victory for the California man by the score of 6 to 3. After the second set was started rain began to fall, which put a stop to tennis for the day. Baker was playing in good form, and if he keeps up the pace he set last Saturday when the match is finished he will probably have little trouble in putting the match to his credit.

According to the present arrangements the remainder of the intercollegiate tournament will be completed next Saturday afternoon. The women's tennis play will begin about 2 o'clock, with the finishing of the Baker MacSwain match. Immediately following this the doubles will be run off. This match promises to be exceedingly exciting, and the best tennis of the meet will be played.

HEESEMAN'S DEFEATED BY SAN JOSE

SAN JOSE, April 17.—The San Jose State League ball team won from the Heesemans of Oakland yesterday afternoon in easy fashion at Cycler's Park. The final score was 6 to 1. A good crowd was in attendance and the home team was cheered lustily throughout the game. Emmerson, the local twister, allowed the visitors only five scattered hits during his inning, but by a long ball and a running catch in the third inning by the same player were the features.

The Oakland team, besides being a trifle weak at the bat, played rather listlessly in the field, and this gave the game to their more spirited opponents.

Batteries—San Jose, Emmerson and Kent; Oakland, Pierce and Smith.

STOCKTON, April 17.—Stockton won from the San Francisco State League team yesterday, scoring seven runs in the first three innings, Lynn was batting freely, while O'Brien, though wild at times, allowed only two hits. Score:

Stockton.....R. H. E.

Batteries—O'Brien and Stange; Flynn and Peralta.

SANTA CLARA SHUT OUT BY HAYWARDS.

HAYWARDS, April 17.—The Santa Clara baseball team was shut out here yesterday afternoon by a score of 15 to 0, the game being won by the Haywards team before an audience of 900 people.

At intervals the game was very interesting and it had some exciting periods, but the heavy batting of the local players, combined with some ragged fielding on the part of the visitors, made out one result possible.

Walter Nagle, of San Francisco, and Charles Oswill, formerly of the Oakland team, were the battery for Haywards, and Nagle pitched a fine article of ball.

PHOENIX DEFEAT
VISITING GORHAM'S.

Pitcher Ferguson

Allows But
Three Hits.

St. Mary's College campus was the scene of a lively tussle yesterday afternoon, when the Phoenix nine trimmed the spy, Gorham's team of San Francisco two to one.

Ferguson opposed Well on the delivery line, with the Phoenix twirler in the lead.

Ferguson allowed three hits and struck out twelve, talking home; while Nell was touched for two big ones, fanned nine collegians and walked four men. Lundy tallied in the first and the Phoenix maintained this lead till the ninth.

In this inning an error by Nigley allowed the "rubber men" to even matters. In the last half of the ninth Haley was safe on an error, Walton walked and with one gone Brady hit to left and ended one of the fastest and most interesting games of the season.

By holding the Gorhams safe yesterday for eight innings Ferguson has prevented opposing players from scoring during fifty-three consecutive innings. The score follows:

DECREASE IN DEATH RATE

CHICAGO, April 17.-In closing his ten years of service as Commissioner of Health for the city of Chicago, Dr. Arthur R. Reynolds presents in his annual report significant data showing the decrease of the death rate in the city. During the ten years from 1885 to 1894, inclusive, the yearly average rate of death was 20.02 in every 1000 of population. During the succeeding ten years the rate decreased to 14.1 in every 1000 of population. This means that there were 56,034 fewer deaths during the last decade than there would have been if the death rate had not fallen below of the preceding ten years.

PROCEEDINGS OF KELLER RESIGNS OFFICE SUPERVISORS

MATTERS OF INTEREST DISCUSSED AT THE SESSION THIS MORNING.

At the meeting of the Board of Supervisors this morning all the members were present save Supervisor Kelley. REQUISITION.

The requisition of the county superintendent of education for the printing of questions for examination was granted. WANTS SCALES.

T. M. Holst, hay and grain merchant, asked for permission to erect four scales on a road in Castro Valley. The request was referred to the Board of Supervisors. BOARD THANKED.

A vote of thanks was extended to the board by the Alameda County Automobile Club for courtesies rendered. WANTS NEW ROADS.

A petition was received from Clotilde Darnell and others asking that Fremont avenue be extended as a county road. The request was referred to the County Surveyor to report as to encroachments. WANTS NEW ROAD.

John C. Stanton, F. C. Winton and a number of others asked for the establishment of a road in Castro Valley. Stanton set forth that the names of the petitioners were bona fide and that the signers were taxpayers. The board accepted the petition and the road was sustained. He understood, he said, that some testimony would be introduced to controvert the charge if incompetency and he desired, he said, to move that the petition be dismissed. Mr. Keller was dismissed.

On motion of Supervisor Rowe, the petition was dismissed, all the Supervisors present, Mitchell, Horner, Talcott and Rowe, voting in the affirmative. KELLER RESIGNS.

Attorney L. S. Church then said that, in view of the fact that the charges had been dismissed in behalf of Mr. Keller, he desired to submit to the Board that gentleman's resignation as County Horticultural Commissioner, to take effect immediately. RESPONSIBILITY.

"If," said Supervisor Mitchell, "the Board should accept the resignation at this time, would it not mean that Keller has been drawing pay for all this time?" Attorney Church said that was a matter for the courts to decide.

Attorney McWade said that the resolution removing Keller and appointing Seuberg to the position of Horticultural Commissioner was a matter of record with the Board. PROTECTING BOARD.

Chairman Mitchell said that it was a question of Keller drawing a salary that the Board had to be protected. Attorney McWade said it was a question of law where a pretty constitutional point was raised, and that it was, consequently, a question for the courts to decide. Mr. Seuberg was already under pay.

Chairman Mitchell said that Keller made the same claim. Attorney Church declared that the Board was not to be misled by what the law is. Mr. McWade said that Mr. Seuberg was entitled to the salary. If Mr. McWade's contention were well founded, then the action of the Board in appointing Keller would be null and void.

On motion of Supervisor Rowe, seconded by Supervisor Horner, Keller's resignation was accepted. Mr. Seuberg was appointed to the position of Horticultural Commissioner. KELLER RESIGNS.
